THE CARMEL SPECTATOR

MONTEREY PENINSULA'S ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

VOL. 8, NO. 17 CARMEL, CALIFORNIA, AUGUST 8, 1952 TEN CENTS

MT. MANUEL IN EARLY MORNING LIGHT

-- Marge Cain

-Spectator Notes-

Ernie Osborne and his boys, the well-liked Mission Ranch music makers, made the first locally produced singing commercial last weekend. It was for Les Hanna's anti-poison oak salve and says something about "it ain't no sin if you've got an itch on your skin." Should be on the air soon.

- - - - - - - - - - -

The Peninsula's garbage district board will really stir up a fuss if they try to locate a disposal site in the lower Carmel Valley. If you think Del Rey Woods made a loud protest about the Fort Ord site, it would look like a teaparty compared to riled Valley property owners.

- - - - - - - - - - -

The R. H. Catlin family's dog was blessed with seven new Bedlington puppies recently. They're cute little fellows, but the Catlins weren't counting on quite such abundance, and are a little pressed for kennel space. With the air of a sadder and wiser parent, Mrs. Catlin says, "We thought it would be a fine nature lesson for the children, but....."

- - - - - - - - - - -

By their labels, you'll know them. Most cities suffer from discarded bottles...usually beer bottles. We take a certain snobbish pride in reporting that the parkway of Ocean boulevard near Dolores recently harbored an empty bottle...of the very finest brand of Scotch.

- - - - - - - - - - -

The Spectator's brightest red carpet, and heartiest congratulations, are rolled out this week for Vince and Smoky Barletta. Vince, the Spectator's and the S. F. Chronicle's circulation man, is the proud new father of a second daughter.

- - - - - - - - - - -

No sooner does Andy Wiemann get his hurt leg back in shape than he goes back to bed - this time with mumps.

- - - - - - - - - - -

Have you noticed the rash of name-dropping lately concerning the George Montgomerys? It's "I saw Dinah today on the courts"-- or "George and Dinah ate lunch only five tables away from us at the club."

PLANNERS' DECISION UPHELD BY COUNCIL

The Carmel Planning Commission was unanimously supported by the councilmen Wednesday night when the City Council considered an appeal from a decision by the planners. H. E. Rogers of Santa Rita street had been denied permission to build a carport closer to hisproperty line than the 15 feet allowed in the ordinance.

P. A. McCreery, commission chairman, explained why that body denied the application. He said that Rogers was told before he built his house that he had left no room for a carport. Rogers understood the ordinance, McCreery said, and the commission felt there were no extenuating circumstances.

The commission considers each application on its own merits, McCreery added, and thegranting of this application in his opinion would set a dangerous precedent.

BUSINESS ASSOCIATION PRESENTS COUNCIL WITH PARKING LOT PLAN

A committee will be named to study the purchase of the M. J. Murphy lumber yard by the City for a municipal parking lot. The 15-man group will include the city council, the Carmel Business Association's parking committee, and five citizens.

Paul McKinstry, chairman of the association's parking committee, explained the problem to the city council briefly at the meeting Wednesday night. He said the land, at the corner of Ocean and Junipero, would accomodate 141 automobiles. Financing the purchase of the land, $117,000, could be done through an insurance company loan or through the sale of revenue bonds.

The business association is anxious that the cost of the parking lot not be assumed by city property owners through taxes. He suggested that some of the stalls be rented on a monthly basis for $5 and that parkingmeters could beplaced in others.

The council assuredMcKinstry and Arne Halle, president of the association, that it would name a committee and study the proposal as soon as possible.

1953 BUDGET READ AT CARMEL SCHOOL BOARD

In a meeting last evening, the Carmel School Board gave public hearing to its budget for the year ending in June, 1953.

Although the meeting took place after The Spectator's press time, the budget as prepared allows a total sum of $539.034.00, with the present tax rate of $1.65 remaining in effect.

The first tentative budget, prepared in June, was revised when an increase in the assessed valuation of district property gave the district an unexpected $42,300. This additional money, together with a "normal" allowance of $35,000 for building in the budget will permit the board to complete necessary classrooms without seeking a bond issue.

The classroom space may be provided either at Woods School, or by commencing the proposed River School.

SANITARY DISTRICT ELECTION SEPT. 15

Three members of the Carmel Sanitary District's board of directors face an election in the fall--Keith Evans, Stanley Peddar, and Clayton Neill. The election will be held September 15, with the firehouse designated as the polling place.

Neill has served on the board nine years, while Evans has served eight. Peddar was elected in 1948. Holdover members are Allen Knight and Lee O. Kellogg, chairman of the board. Terms are for four years.

NEW SUBDIVISION PLANS OUTLINED AT MEETING

The newest subdivision on the outskirts of Carmel will be started soon, with 12 to 15 houses scheduled to be completed this year. The Rancho Canada, across the highway from Carpenter street, will include a total of 80 homes when completed three yearx hence.

E. C. Travis of the Goheen-Travis Corp., developers of the area, explained the general plans to the Carmel Sanitary District board this week. He said that homes will be sold, not just sites. He added that the homes will be of two and three bedrooms and will range

Travis discussed the development with the board in preparation for seeking annexation of the area to the sanitary district.

KICKOFF BREAKFAST PROMISES SURPRISES

The kickoff breakfast for the Monterey County Fair next Thursday promises to be quite an affair. Besides having some good food, those attending are promised a good show.

The principal speaker is Harold Powers, top cattleman and president of the state senate. But other events are planned. Of the latter, even Fair President Corum Jackson doesn't know the details.

It seems that Gen. Robert B. McClure has entered enthusiastically into the picture with some plans that he considers top secret. Only he and his Fort Ord staff know what is in store.

Everyone is invited to attend the breakfast that will officially open the Fair.

PUBLIC URGED TO ATTEND MEETING ON STORM DRAINAGE PLAN

The public is urged to attend the meeting on the city budget Monday night to express themselves on the question of using tax money to help correct the storm drainage problem. The Carmel council has not decided if such expenditures are in accordance with the wishes of the people.

The unofficial meeting is being held to secure public opinion on the matter. The council urges the public to attend and discuss the matter.

CHEST SLOGAN CONTEST BRINGS CLEVER ENTRIES

A highly gratifying response to the Community Chest's slogan contest was announced this week by Robert E. Ross, Chairman of the Chest publicity committee.

"The slogan contest is being conducted,' Mr. Ross explained, "not only as a device to bring prominently to the attention of all Peninsula residents the campaign the Chest shortly will launch, but even

GOLDEN BOUGH PARTY NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

A no-host party, open to all friends of the Golden Bough Theatre project, will be held next Friday evening at Mission Ranch at 8:30. Entertainment will be provided for the get together by the Special Services detachment of Fort Ord, and by a part of the cast of "That's The Ticket," a musical to be presented at the Forest Theatre the end of August. The theme of the evening will be "Let's Turn Out the Lights and Start the Show."

With the building work on the Golden Bough due to be completed within two or three weeks, the party is in the nature of a celebration, and Edward Kuster, manager of the theatre, comments that the evening "is just to be a getting together of all persons interested in theatre in Carmel. Anyone interested is welcome. We especially want to meet and know new friends of theatre among service people who are new to the community."

With the opening of the Bough imminent, a new standby committee of women has been formed, a group who have expressed willingness to help the theatre and promote interest in it. Members of this "Friends of the Golden Bough" committee are: Mrs. J. W. Stillwell, Mrs. William A. Love, Mrs. John Abernethy, Mrs. Francis Lloyd, Mrs. Philip Schneeburger, Mrs. Phil K. Gordon, Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann, Mrs. Paul McKinstry, Mrs. R. A. Kocher, Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger, Mrs. Paul Flanders, Mrs. C. S. Wesley, Mrs. Paul Lowenhaupt, Mrs. E. E. Herrmann, Mrs. Florence P. Stuart, Miss Marjorie C. Hamer, Miss Sarah Ann Anderson, Mrs. Douglas Bradburn, Mrs. A. N. Allen, Mrs. Clifford Cook, Mrs. Chester Hare, Mrs. Orin Kaye, and Mrs. James Doud.

FAIR CRAFTS EXHIBITS

All members of the Carmel Crafts Guild who wish to place exhibits in the Monterey County Fair are urged to make their requests as soon as possible. August 9 is the deadline for receiving work to be exhibited.

For further information, exhibitors may call Doris Ormsby at 7-3030.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR SEPTEMBER FISHERMEN'S FESTIVAL

Two special trains have been arranged for with the Southern Pacific by the Italian Catholic Federation to bring its 6000 members to the Peninsula to participate in the Fishermen's Festival (the Feast of Santa Rosalia) and the Italian Catholic Federation's 22nd annual convention here September 6 through 9.

One train will leave San Francisco at 6:30 a.m. Sept. 7 and arrive in Monterey at 9:45 a.m. The other train will leave from Pittsburg, Sept. 7, at 4:30 a.m. and arrive at Monterey at 10 a.m. Both trains will have numerous stops enroute to pick up the members of the Italian Catholic Federation. A refreshment car will be on both trains to provide for the comfort of the travelers. Convention members coming from Los Angeles and that area will also have special travel privileges arranged for them.

The Fishermen's Festival will be a giant affair this year and thousands of visitors are expected to come to the Peninsula for the celebration.

The lucky girl who will be crowned Queen of the Fishermen's Festival and of the Italian Catholic Federation's 22nd Annual Convention will have four days of honors and festivities that should envoke memories she will treasure for years to come.

Leading so far in the queen contest are: first, Sarah Lillian Constanza; second, Stella Cri-

Travel Talk

"Off-Season," or Fall travel is favored by a good many voyagers, since it can usually be done at a saving. Most European hitels will lower their rates on September 1st... and the steamship companies put a new and lower schedule into effect then too.

France and Italy are sunny and warm well into October, and England's climate much like that of Carmel now.

Most resorts stay open well into the late fall, and an extra dividend of off-season travel is the freedom from crowds, which isn't found during the height of the summer season.

People who saw and were thrilled by last year's great teen-age musical hit, "This Is It!"--and those who heard about it but couldn't get tickets to the sellout performances--will have a chance this week to bid on tickets for the 1952 show, "That's The Ticket!," written by this same team of writers and composers.

This year's production will have advanced in at least one direction in that it rides on a well knit and fast moving plot, the frame for eighteen--18, that is--new musical numbers and at least half of these set to dance and chorus. Eighty teen-agers, a majority of them seasoned troupers from last year's show, are the backbone of this year's production, headed by a sparkling lead cast of well known local favorites and several big surprise acting packages.

Writer of the book--the story and dialogue--of "That's The Ticket," is Mike Monahan, an effervescent gentleman of Irish countenance, with a delightfully pixy-ish wit which comes off on his typewriter. Mike graduated from Santa Clara this year, taking with him the university's dramatic arts contest first prize and a gold watch which fails to deliver him on time for rehearsals. Perhaps in a fit of nostalgia at leaving Santa Clara he turned to college days as theme for this year's show.

"That's The Ticket" is set down on the campus of "Bradford College," a noble if non-existent institute whose president gets mixed up in politics and his eldest daughter's love life.

With the help of Mike's nimble brain and the songs of Rick Masten and Don Adams, old Bradford's banner ne'er dips the dust despite gansters and racketeers, and,, in the end, Bradford's president walks out erect to an unexpected fate.

Rick Masten, the lyric-writing member of the Masten-Adams combination, is a volatile guy with the bounce of a French poodle--and also its quick cleverness. Perhaps the French analogy is heightened by Rick's trip to Paris a couple of years ago where he studied a different type of art--painting. Rick rather naturally therefore is a several threat man. The weirder part of his brain grinds out the un-syntaxical metered phrases of the commercial song lyricist, where nothing matters but moon rhyming with June--and then fools everyone with a song like "Book of Dreams," which has everyone reaching for his handkerchief. On the side, he sings, dances, acts, and designs the sets for the show.

The fellow he can't get along without, though--nor can the show--is Don Adams, himself a several threat man. He and Rick make one of those million dollar (some day) song writing teams that read each other's minds. When Rick wants moon to rhyme with June, Don can follow right along in music. Same way with boogie, ricky-tick, or any of the intricate specialty numbers which make up a musical. Likewise, when a "Book of Dreams" lyric comes his way, Don pulls all stops and the result is a dream of a song. Don, who is a quieter, less zany type than his associates (being, incidentally, the father of three children), has a soft sense of humor which is helpful at times in keeping his more hectic associates' energies channeled. He also accompanies the musical workouts at all rehearsals and is the lead musician for the actual show itself. It is interesting to note that Don has had no formal musical education--is what is known as "a natural."

The three have wrapped themselves in a package called "Three Ring Theater," plan to go on producing musicals here unless--or until--something else happens. Maybe Broadway? Not beyond possibility, those who know them think. At any rate, they all know the Theater is theirs--and vice versa--until the real thing comes along.

carmel valley Sun Spots

by PARKER KIMBALL

With deer season opening this weekend and hunters varying from the skilled and cautious to the myopic and trigger happy, thoughts of Upper Valley citizenry turn naturally toward self preservation... Here it may be well to remind all hunters that the law prohibits shooting within 500 yds. of any dwelling or out-building without the owner's special permission; also, that a number of the larger Upper and Lower Valley properties are posted, and trespassers are liable to prosecution...Considering this problem at their last week's meeting, the county board of supervisors asked local persons their opinion of closing certain areas in the Upper Valley to hunting, as is done in the cases of Corral de Tierra and San Bonacio Canyon. Opinion in the Valley seems to be divided between those who feel the protection of the existing law is enough, and those who would like a protection district formed within the boundaries, say, of the Tularcitos Fire District. No decision was reached at the meeting.

..Martha and Sid Williams

plan to sue Monterey County for damages of $25,000 which they say will be required to repair and further protect damage to their property as the result of the new Valley Road which they claim cut through their property in such a way that extensive pieces of it sloughed off, placing their yard and house in danger... the county denies poor engineering, claims the slides would have occurred anyway..The Williams have secured engineering counsel which claims this is not true..Anyway, the Williams indicated they would be willing to drop the suit provided they were given adequate assurance that full and proper repairs would be made..

Petition for the formation of the Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District..granted at hearing of the board of supervisors on Monday..Date of election - Tues., Aug. 26, 7:00 p.m., at Carmel School. Three property owners have requested exclusion from the district--Catherine Stewart, Mabel Mason, and Adda Blomquist...

C. V. Property Owners Assn. will hold its semi-annual membership meeting at the Carmel Valley Barn Theater, Wed. nite, Aug. 20, 8 p.m. Principal speaker will be a member of the Calif. Soil Cons. Dist... the meeting is open to the public....

CRAFTS GUILD MEETING

The Carmel Crafts Guild met last Friday at the Monterey County Fair Grounds to plan for exhibits of crafts at the coming County Fair.

Mr. Robert Bennett, president of the Guild, presented the speakers of the evening: Mr. Edward McLean, assistant to Mr. Wise, manager of the Fair; Miss Doris Ormsby, and Miss

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Well, What Do You Know?

Do you believe in a bunch of old tales about lightning — about how it's attracted by cats or the warmth of cattle ... how it never strikes in the same place twice ... or how it's liable to turn milk sour? Lots of people often do—but they're wrong.

Dad Hawkins inspired this column today. He's really studied up on lightning since his own cow barn was struck that time.

"Trouble is, most of us don't know half enough about the subject," Dad says. "And about half of what we do know is false!"

From where I sit, Dad's statement applies to a lot of things besides lightning. Too many people think they know their neighbor's wrong when he votes for his candidate instead of theirs. Some people even resent our right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer if and when we choose. Opinions based on misinformation and prejudice, instead of being "grounded" on true facts can cause more damage than lightning ever did.

more importantly to obtain a slogan that is native to, and expresses, the unique community in which we live."

"Slogans," Mr. Ross continued, "not only are expressive. They also are fun. And that the Peninsula takes an interest in the right slogan for its own Community Chest is demonstrated by the many suggestions received.

"Among these excellent suggestions are 'Do Your Best for the Community Chest.' 'Don't Leave it to the Rest--It's Your Community Chest.' 'Give 'Till it Helps.' 'Happy Giving Makes Happy Living.' 'The Community Chest--a Give and Take Proposition.' 'If You Care You'll Share in our Community's Welfare."

"Successful though the Chest's slogan contest is proving," concluded Mr. Ross, "we still want more suggestions, a real community expression as a demonstration of the role the Chest plays on the Peninsula. No literary skill is required. There is no age limit, bottom or top. I urge, therefore, in the name of the Community Chest, that you get the creative urge working and send to Community Chest headquarters, 546 Hartnell, Monterey, not one but several slogan suggestions today."

The Amateur Gardener

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

A number of friends have expressed a wish to plant a garden. Their excuses for not doing so are interesting. Some think you must have a "green thumb," (a very much overworked expression). Others just do not enjoy the work. If it is considered work, then the real pleasure is lost. Some are just lazy or they have "voluntary inertia." We try to stress the joy and spiritual pleasure in working with nature and love it.

In this column we try to outline our experience as amateurs. There are other methods just as good, but to us the simplest methods have brought the most satisfactory results in health and happiness. We grow most of our plants from seeds, starting them in shallow pots or seed flats, but at this season, if you wish to have winter and early spring flowers, they can be planted in the garden. A place which has morning sun and afternoon shade should be selected. Follow the outline given below:

SOIL PREPARATION

(1) Remove all rubbish, old plants, stalks, stones and debris before working the soil.
(2) Be sure the soil is slightly moist and crumbly before spading. If a handful of soil forms a ball, wait until it dries to slight moisture.
(3) Use a spade or spading fork and push straight down the full length of fork or spade. Turn each spadeful over and break up all clods.
(4) Take a rake and smooth over the surface two or three inches deep. Make the surface fine, loose and even. Use the back of the rake as well as the teeth.
(5) Spade in well-rotted barnyard manure. This improves the texture of the soil. Peat moss or Fluffium should be used in clay or adobe soil.
(6) If the soil is not rich or has been neglected, scatter a balanced commercial fertilizer over the plot. Rake in thoroughly and allow to settle for a few days.
(7) Sow your seed when the soil is barely moist, never when wet. It is best to sow the seeds in straight furrows or in circles. In this way, you will recognize any weeds that may sprout. Read directions on package of seed for depth of planting. Very small seed need not be covered with dirt.
(8) Cover plot with a single layer of burlap or light cloth.
(9) Spray with very fine spray daily, but do not soak the bed.
(10) As soon as seeds have sprouted, remove burlap and protect against birds and slugs. An orange crate or a lathe frame is very useful. Use snail bait for slugs.
(11) When plants have grown to 2 or 3 inches, they may be thinned out and transplanted to some other location.
(12) Partial shade or a few hours of morning sun is ideal for seed beds. The seedlings will die very quickly if the surface of the ground becomes dry.

FOR FALL AND WINTER BLOOM

Plant Calendula, Candytuft, Hyacinth, Early Cosmos, Gypsophilia (baby's breath), Mimulus or Monkey flower, Nasturtium, Nemesia, Phlox, Winter Sweetpeas, Purple Alyssum.

The following thrive better in pots: Pansy Swiss junbo, Snapdragon tetra, Winter stock (base branching), and any perennials and biannuals.

VEGETABLES

Beets, cabbage, cauliflower, loose-leaf lettuce, radishes and endive. We find it more satisfactory to grow flower seed in shallow pots or flats in 1/3 each: garden loam, sand, and peat moss. Transplant when 2 or 3 inches tall and feed with Ortho-gro every two weeks. Set out in the flower bed by September and you will have lots of flowers for spring.

ALADDIN IN CARMEL

Mr. Winter, the proprietor of THE VILLAGE JEWELER, has received the following newspaper clipping, written by a roving reporter who was greatly taken with the array of wondrous things in his Dolores street shop.

"Aladdin, lost in his cave and putting out his hand to the trees which bore the fruits of glorious color and fashioned of precious stones, was no more astounded than is the Carmel visitor who just happens into the 'ear-ring' shop. It can't be, one thinks, on being told that there is a place whose sole stock in trade is earrings. It is altogether unlikely that a merchant would say, 'This one thing I do,' and then stick to ear-rings, of all things.

"And it isn't quite that way, really, because there are a few - a very few - other bits of jewelry to be found in this little cave. But these are far outshown by the main item, a piece de resistance which whets but never satisfies the appetite.

"Recently a New York salesman unloaded his sample cases before the doorway of this small establishment. He came as missionary to unknown parts, for isn't Carmel, California, a tiny hinterland village which tries hard but doesn't quite know how? On stepping inside, he fell back, dismayed. 'Oh, no!' was his shout of disbelief. There was no need for missionary work here--not in his department, anyhow.

"'The Village Jeweler,' whose astute owners have collected all this loot and put it under one roof, literally has the largest and most surprising display of earrings in the United States. No foolin.' And it takes a mighty stout-hearted woman to pass up the feast.

"Did your grandmother own some beautifully wrought bracelets of soft gold, with classic designs running through the pattern? And, having had these appraised, have you taken them down to the bank to put in for safe keeping? You can match them here in earrings, and at a painless price. Persons knowing the value of Grandma's keep-sakes will be properly impressed at the ear-rings you have chosen to go with them, and you can save the price of an extra safety deposit box.

"Every color of the spectrum, softly muted, is here, in ascending or descending scale, as to hues and shades and tints. If it's azure or lapis Lazuli or rose or emerald or amethyst or topaz or gold or silver you prefer, you mention it. At once you find yourself in the predicament of the fellow who likes pie and is let loose in the cafeteria where the chef has out-done himself this day with apple and peach and cherry and lemon and chocolate and gooseberry and blueberry and raisin and custard and currant and squash and mince. He can't eat them all but he's happier than larks in the pop-corn.

"There are whole trays of each color, quite by itself. And these range in style from what you would wear to your Grand-Aunt Emma's tea for the ladies' knitting group to something dazzling for a night on the town in company with six drunken sailors. You accept a lapful of jewels from the trusting soul who is the proprietor and have yourself a big time. All HE has to do is hope your check won't bounce.

"There is something barbaric in almost every female. She 'hates' jewelry, maybe, but when she says 'jewelry' she almost never means little things to stick in her ears. Count the number of women you see who are not wearing brooches, bracelets, rings, necklaces or tiaras but who are wearing ear-rings. That's because The Little Woman feels kind of undressed without them. The Village jewelers is for the likes of her. And it's worth the trip--from any distance." -- Adv.
